Coolidge Strong in Indiana Election

David Lawrence

Copyright 1924, by the Janesville Gazette-Special Correspondence to the Janesville Gazette.

Indianapolis—President Coolidge has the lead in Indiana, but the complications over the state ticket are giving the democrats hope that an election day the re-nomination of voters on local issues will be so strong that the democrats will take no chances of a scratched ballot and will vote at the right democratic ticket.

Even the republicans admit that is a fact and just now the faction between the national republicans and leaders working for Coolidge and the state republican managers is so manifest that it will take considerable time before Indiana's political behavior can be fully ascertained.

The democrats have made a strong anti-Klan fight. They have gone further than ever before to get the negro vote and there are some signs that they will get it in large quantities. They have corralled others who are the victims of attack by the Klan. One cannot underestimate the bitterness of feeling over the Klan controversy has provoked.

Klan Issue
Ed Jackson was secretary of state when the Klan charter was issued. He is said to argue he was not in the employ on the day when the charter was given, but he has made no public statement about it. The general impression which he has made is that he is identified with the Klan.

The friends of President Coolidge like Joseph Keating, republican national committee man, have for some time been disturbed about the possible damage that might be done the national ticket through the Klan fight. Their tactics have been to keep hands off. The republican state chairman, Clyde Webb, for instance, in a public statement, criticized "certain republicans" for failing to give the state ticket their support.

Republican Divisions
The one regrettable feature up to this time is the fact that certain republicans who in the past have enjoyed favor at the hands of the party who probably will expect to do no again, are not taking an active part in the campaign.

"Some of them are doing nothing for the national or state tickets. Others are strong for Coolidge but are perfectly quiescent when it comes to the state and local tickets, thinking in some way their failure to do anything for the state and local tickets will help the national ticket. How they reach this conclusion is more than I know. So, while I feel certain of success on election day on all our tickets, I regret that this success, unless conditions change, will be attained without the aid of certain men who might have given assistance. An extensive speaking campaign will be started immediately and every city, town and hamlet will be covered."

For National Ticket
It is generally supposed he meant the Harry New faction. There have been speakers in the state for the national ticket, but they usually avoid anything more than a passing reference to the state ticket. The state managers now have reached a point in which they seriously believe the chances of Coolidge will be affected unless they get the whole-hearted cooperation of the national republican organization. Some of the latter, however, think it is safer to keep hands off so as to meet both the Klan and anti-Klan support. For President Coolidge himself has thus far kept aloof from the Klan controversy. Virtually the same attitude exists here in Colorado, where the sentiment for Coolidge is not in any way related to the local controversy over the Klan. The effect of the scrapping of voters, especially on voting machines, is already being discussed, for the voter with a grievance will wish to make sure that he has voted correctly on that, irrespective of anything else.

Coolidge is Strong There
Were it not for the state controversy, President Coolidge would carry Indiana by a landslide. If he wins the state it will be by a landslide. The state, which may be called close since the day of woman suffrage and large registrations.

The La Follette strength in Indiana is not inconsiderable. Railroad labor and railroads and some farmers are going over to the third party ticket. Opinions vary as to whether this vote is coming in large numbers from the democrats than the republican party, but in the voter, to be sure, the democrats will contribute more to La Follette than in the country districts.

The controversy over the state ticket has driven some of the independent voters to the La Follette standard, and altogether Indiana is much more difficult to analyze this year than it was four or eight years ago.

To summarize, the most that can be said of Indiana at this time is that if the election were held tomorrow, President Coolidge would carry it. The democrats, stimulated by the recent visit of John W. Davis, are by no means inclined to concede Indiana. Mr. Davis put heart into the organization and made a good impression with his speeches. The republicans thought enough of Indiana to send Secretary of State Hughes here and they are making no effort. They act as if they think they ought to win the state for Coolidge, but they are by no means anxious to do so. The president has the advantage at present and, barring unforeseen developments in the controversy over the state ticket, where the national ticket becomes involved in the Klan fight, Indiana may be counted ultimately for Coolidge.

GRAIN

Chicago Review.—With weather conditions favorable for the crop movement in the north, wheat and corn advanced in price today during the early trading. A decline in Liverpool values here. On the declines, though, houses with export connections being anxious to get rid of the winter wheat. The opening, which ranged from 1 1/2¢ to 1 3/4¢ lower, with December 1 1/2¢ to 1 3/4¢ lower, followed by a decline that in some cases went more than two cents below Saturday's finish. Subsequently some sharp additional breaks in price took place, numerous holdings being discarded as a result. Holding orders to sell out and stop losses at various declines limited. Wheat prices declined as a result of a heavy 2 1/2¢ to 3¢ not lower, Dec. 1 1/2¢ to 1 3/4¢ and May 1 1/2¢ to 1 3/4¢. Corn prices advanced and good weather tended to make demand on corn. After opening at 1 1/4¢ to 1 1/2¢ lower, Dec. 1 1/4¢ to 1 1/2¢, the corn market continued to decline. Lower quotations on hog, pulled down the price of corn.
